TELEGRAPHIC.

BALDWIN SOAKS HIS HOTEL

Corbett to Appear in Washington.

THE GOVERNMENT READY TO ENFORCE THE EXCLUSION ACT.

Hard Finances in the Sandwich Islands.

Special to the APPEAL

Hard Finances in Honolulu.

San Francisco, Sept. 2.—Advices from Honolulu state that large numbers of Chinese are being naturalized on the islands, in order to secure admission to the United States. In Samoa, the arrival of American English and German war ships is looked for to enforce the law. There is no fear of war, but the natives will not pay taxes, and as the consequence the government cannot be carried on.

The Exclusion Act.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 2.—The Treasury Department have arranged all preliminaries in connection with the work of issuing photographic certificates to Chinese in the United States. The Exclusion Act went into effect yesterday. The Department is now awaiting returns from collectors of internal revenue and deputies.

Hay While the Sun Shines.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 2.—Manager Sam Thall, of Alhambra Opera House has engaged James Corbett and his trainer, James Daly to box four rounds at a performance on Saturday evening. Corbett will leave for New Orleans immediately after the performance.

A Big Plaster on the Baldwin.

San Francisco, Sept. 2.—A big mortgage was filed today on the Baldwin Hotel and Baldwin ranch in Southern California, for $700,000. Baldwin secured the money from the Hibernia Bank.

Occultation of Mars.

When the sun sets on next Saturday night (September 3d) the nearly full moon will be seen in the southeast, close to and apparently bearing down on that bright red star which all the APPEAL readers have by this time learned to recognize as the planet Mars. As the moon rises in the sky its distance from the planet will sensibly decrease. At the same time it must be remembered that the axis of the moon, which was at first inclined considerably towards the east, will have "righted itself" to a great extent, so that now the ruddy planet will not be below the moon's center, but just about to the left of it. The moon being nearly two days from the full will not be a perfect circle and the incomplete portion will be on the side toward the planet. By the time it is 9 o'clock the red star will be very close to the moon's edge, and if the amateur star-gazer has the patience to closely watch developments he will soon observe a singular and striking phenomenon. At a quarter past 9 or a few moments later the planet (not yet to the "terminator," but nevertheless, on the moon's edge, as will be seen if the complete circles are traced around by the eye) will gradually fade out and in the space of sixty seconds will entirely disappear.

This beautiful phenomenon may be nicely seen with a small field glass or a pair of opera glasses, and is even striking to the unaided vision. It is called an "occultation" of the planet by the moon, and while not so rare an occurrence as to be of wonderful import is none the less exceedingly interesting to the spectator.

It will emerge about 10 o'clock and not go into hiding again for twenty years.

Mistaken Identity.

Yesterday morning it was discovered that Cal Knapp's place had been burglarized and $50 taken from the bureau. The officers started out and finally arrested a man in the Capitol lodging house on suspicion.

He gave his name as R. D. McEntyre and found him to be a Justice of the Peace from Soda Springs Esmeralda county.

He was also a delegate to the Republican convention at Reno. After he had shown his credentials and proxies he was released and the real thief is still at large.

NEWLAND'S SPEECH.

He Believes in Nevada Before Party.

The following is Newland's speech before the Republican Convention at Reno in accepting the nomination for Congress:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention:—I thank you for this exhibition of your confidence. In the absence of a public record (for as yet I have never filled a public office), I can only say that I will support the interests of Nevada with unfailing ardor if selected to this position. I shall be mindful always that I am not a Republican of Massachusetts or a Republican of New York, but a Republican of the State of Nevada [great applause]; that I belong to that party which has been uniformly successful in this State solely because of its loyalty to the paramount industry to the State. [Applause.] I shall make these interests—the mining interests, the agricultural interests and all the industrial interests of this State—paramount considerations with me in my public life.

The gentlemen who seconded my nomination referred to the prominence which Nevada, while small in numbers, had secured in the councils of the Nation through its leaders. Some time ago, whilst in Washington and whilst in conversation with a prominent official connected with the present Administration, I was urging a certain line of policy in regard to this State. The answer came with some impatience:

"Don't you think so small a State as Nevada has had about enough consideration?" I said: "Yes, possibly if you consider the sparseness of her population, but no, if you consider the genius and energy of her people." [Applause.] In London five months ago I was discussing the silver question with a man who represented this Government prominently abroad, who claimed to be a bimetalist. He belongs to that class of bimetalists who are always urging reasons why silver should not be restored to its old position, and he expressed some impatience that we should have so much to do with this agitation. He seemed to think that agitation of so much movement, which is embracing the world, should not have originated in so obscure a State, and that Nevada was having to much to say upon the subject. I told him, in reply, that the energy and efficiency of great agitations were not dependent on their origin, however obscure it might be; that the Christian religion had its origin in lowly Palestine; and that from Nevada has arisen an agitation, not only for the interests of that State, but was freighted with results in mankind which would sweep the world in its broad embrace. [Great applause.]

My friends (I think I can call you my friends) I shall bear the banner of Nevada, if it is put in my hands, proudly. I shall be proud of the State I shall be proud of her people, proud of her interests, proud of her education and I shall wage constant war against the interests that are opposing her development. [Applause.]

I think you, gentlemen, for this kind reception. [Great applause.]

TO-DAY'S FIGHT.

The Principles Move to Carson.

The men who were to have fought last evening in Virginia City were not allowed to do so, as their is a city ordinance on the Comstock granting licenses to prize fighters only who are not minors. The clause prevented the fight when it was ascertained that Meyers was under 21.

The principles, backers, seconds and bottle holders came down in a body yesterday, when it was found that the fight could not be allowed, and arrangements were made to have the contest in the Opera House, in the afternoon.

The Miners' Union picnic will bring a large crowd here, many of whom want to see the fight. The mill will begin between 2 and 3 o'clock today at the Opera House. Admission one dollar, stage seats $2.00.

A. Livingston now practically controls the wholesale liquor trade of the city. He is continually adding to his stock and sells only standard brands. He is also introducing some excellent California wines to the people of Carson, as well as foreign and domestic cigars of the finest quality. Drop in and inspect his stock. d 13 tf

ALL SORTS.

The public schools open on Monday.

Jim Moore left on last night's train.

The signal flags predict pretty fair weather.

The rain storm did not appear as advertised.

Jack Campbell, of the Enterprise, is in the city.

Alf. Chartz will remain over today to see the scrap.

Brady is the favorite in the betting on the result of the glove contest today.

C. F. Cutts, the King street grocer, is selling watermelons at a big reduction.

There will be a big crowd and lots of fun at the Miners' Union picnic today.

Watson and Parkinson left for Reno last evening to take a hand in the tennis tournament.

The District Fair managers should put some suitable prizes for the wheelmen to contest for.

It is not definitely known in this office whether or not Charles Kelly has received any watermelons.

Some of the Carson wheelmen are getting in trim for the bicycle races advertised to take place at the State Fair.

There are three pies entered in the APPEAL's contest. No pies will be admitted—in competition—after 9 o'clock this evening.

Four Democratic presidential electors in Mississippi have withdrawn from the ticket and party and come square out for Weaver and Field. "A vote for Weaver is a vote for Cleveland."

Round trip tickets from Carson to Sacramento and return, for the California State Fair at $10.05 for the round trip are now on sale at the Railroad ticket office, Sept. 3rd to Sept. 16th, valid for return after Sept. 19th, 1892.

Nobody has been able to explain why Bliss and Cleveland changed their minds so completely on the Harrison question. If Harrison should read what they said of him April 30th, he would probably want someone else on the ticket.

One of our leading citizens testified before the recent Grand Jury that a certain county officer demanded a commission if he purchased certain supplies of him. He evidently regarded a public trust as a private snap.

Storey made a splendid record at the Republican Convention at Reno. Out of 30 delegates only four could be found who were willing to turn their backs on silver for the sake of partisan loaves and fishes. The county which contains the old mother load of silver was true to itself.

The Calaveras county trantulas, take the bakery for size. One was caught while crawling up a man's back at Mokulme Hill, last week, which measured three inches across the back. He was large enough to make an ornament for a lady's bonnet.—Eucinal.

This sounds if the man on who back the tarantula was found measured him.

Ed Dupuis who started the News and then let go of it so suddenly writes a communication to it from Chicago in which he says:

Only day before yesterday I met a well known Carsonite who took occasion—besides a few drinks—to remind me that he was among my early subscribers to the Carson News, a paper which I have the honor of founding.

Foundering is very good. Sometimes there is a great deal of truth in these typographical errors.

Benton's Liniment.

Which has been used in Carson for over twenty-five years, has saved many an ache and pain to those who know it. It is really intended for horses but works with the same magical effect on the human. It is a powerful remedy and for rheumatism is the king of the world. Aches knocked out in short order. No horseman should be without a bottle. n6tf

Benton's Liniment for sale at all drug stores.

If your watch is out of order in any way you can get it repaired at Golden's by skilled workmen from the best institutions in Europe. The work turned out in jewelry repairing is always finished in the best style and the assortment of goods has no equal anywhere in Nevada. j4tf.
